

For my quilt I want to recreate the pattern on a shirt my mom wore when she first came to America. I stumbled upon an album of photographs my family took in 93 when they immigrated from China. The photos caught my attention because my family looked very foreign and tourist like but their clothing made them look American. I scanned many textures and patterns of textiles from my parents current closets and will use them to create the quilt. I want the quilt to show how they have changed after coming to America through their clothing.
